SUMMARY:

I'm learning programming as autodidact and I'm looking for my first job opportunity in the IT world.

I started learning Python, because I'm interested in machine learning and data science, but I would like to learn other backend technologies.

I Worked with Agile-Lean schemes (during the board game design workshop I collaborated in) and have implemented the use of Kanban boards and gamified schemes in one of my works as Operation Coordinator.

Beyond work, I am passionate about board games and gamification, having studied some courses on the subject. At the moment I play TCG with my son.

I place great importance on job stability and work-life balance in order to maintain creativity and well-being in my life.
